THE TINTED VENUS.

F. Anstey's most clever work will be pub-lished complete in this number of THE WORLD. It is a story of seventy thousand words, full of wit and with a most exciting plot. The illustrations are most happily conceived. "The Tinted Venus deals with the trials and adventures o an unhappy cockney barber, who love an honest flesh and blood young woman and who finds that a marble Venus is in love with him. The troubles of the barber and the experiences of the ancient but beautiful Venus in modern London form a most pleasing combination. It is a good story to read in a cool hammock. morning if fate ties you to the hot city.

that disgrace this village. It is a wonder that the residents are not all down with typhoid fever epidemic, for the air, these red hot days is fetld with the thick odors of uncovered sewage. TWO BUNDERD MILITIAMEN ON THE SICE LIST. There was a sensational story affoat last night that some of the soldiers had been poisoned through the introduction of drugs into the provisions and meat purchased in Homestead. Investigation at the camp this morn-

believed that there are in Homestead about 2,000 guns of all sorts, including shotguns, old army muskets, sporting rifles and Winchesters, which belong to the men, and which cannot, save in actual hostilities, be taken away from them. Besides these are the captured Pinkerton rifles and a great many re-

Ammunition is much more scarce, it is beiteved, than weapons. There is a difference in callbre between the Pinkerton guns and the others, which makes many of the cartridges unavailable. An amazing fact is that muca of the ammunition is manifestly the property of the United States Government.

Much speculation is indulged in by the peo-
